The clinic accommodates novice to advanced riders. Reoccurring participants from previous clinics are always challenged! Steve's horsemanship exercises focus on creating a light horse that is responsive, soft and fluid in movements. Steve will work with riders to sit a balanced, active seat teaching them to understand how to control the horses body parts and how to give cues that are correct and clear. This clinic will include some advanced maneuvers thereby challenging both riders and horses to rise to the next level. We will also spend some time in this clinic on obstacles to build confidence in the horse and rider as well as re-enforce exercises on how to control a horse's body position through effective and timely cues.
